A vehicle is equipped with a door frame used to support an opening of an interior room, such as a trunk, a door, a door frame, a glove compartment, a tool box, a seat, and a seat back, in a door opening. If the door frame comes to a passenger while the vehicle is running, there is a possibility that passengers in the vehicle are hit in the head. Moreover, if a door frame is provided in a vehicle at the boundary of an interior space and a trunk, the passenger may forget that there is a door frame. To overcome these problems, a door frame in which such is hidden within a panel has been disclosed in Japanese Laid-Open Patent Publication No. 9-220972. In the aforementioned conventional door frame, a recessed portion is formed in a guide member for opening and closing the door frame. The guide member is mounted in the interior of 6d1f23a050
